PARENTS AS LEADERS OF HOPE

Loving God,

We thank You for the gift of our children and for the sacred calling You have entrusted to us as parents.

Fill our hearts with hope, patience, and courage as we guide them in their learning and in their faith.

Help us to lead by example—to speak words that encourage, to choose actions rooted in love, and to nurture curiosity, compassion, and resilience in our homes.

When challenges arise, remind us that we are never alone.

Strengthen our partnership with teachers, schools, and communities, so together we may reflect Christ's light and truth in Catholic education.

May our children see in us a living sign of hope—hope that believes in their God-given potential and trusts in Your constant presence on their journey.

We ask this through Christ our Lord.

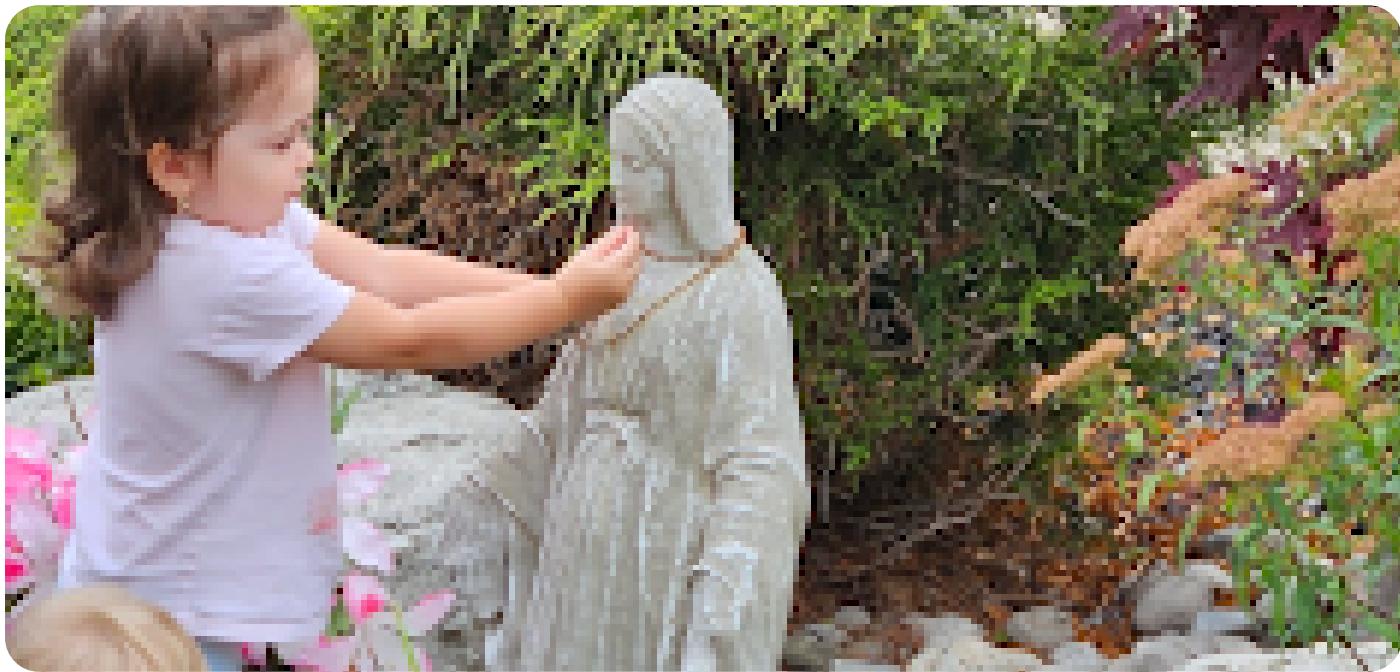

Amen.

Loving as Jesus Loved: Lessons at Home and in the Heart

In the Gospel of John, Jesus gives His disciples a simple yet demanding command: "Love one another as I have loved you." Reflecting on this passage with her children, D. Pawlowski explores what Christ-like love looks like in everyday family life.

From helping a neighbour to including someone who feels left out, children often express love through small, tangible acts. But this reflection goes deeper, inviting families to consider not just what we do, but why we do it. Jesus' love is quiet, selfless, and not performed for recognition. It is love rooted in compassion, faith, and humility.

The article offers practical ways parents can nurture this kind of love in their children, including modeling quiet service, focusing on internal motivation rather than praise, and practicing acts of kindness without an audience.

As parents in Catholic education, we are reminded that we are forming hearts as much as minds, helping our children grow into disciples who love as Christ loved, even when no one is watching.

THE VOICE OF CATHOLIC PARENTS

In The Voice of Catholic Parents, OAPCE affirms the importance of a strong parent voice in publicly funded Catholic education. Prepared for CPCO, the article highlights how meaningful parent engagement and advocacy help protect Catholic values, strengthen schools, and support student success. The article also underscores the value of partnership between families and school leadership. Take a look and thank you to the CPCO for their ongoing partnership!

CONCERNS OVER BILL C-9 AND RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

Canada's Bill C-9 has raised serious concerns among Catholic leaders and parents, who warn it could undermine Catholic education and erode constitutionally protected religious freedoms. Critics argue the bill sets a troubling precedent by pressuring faith-based institutions to conform to government ideology at the expense of conscience rights, parental authority, and the long-standing role of Catholic schools in Canada's education system. Catholics and all Canadians who value religious freedom are urged to contact their Members of Parliament, stay informed, and speak out to defend parental rights and faith-based education.

What is Happening? A Critical Protection at Risk

The federal government's Bill C-9 (the Combating Hate Act) is being amended to eliminate this key safeguard, following a reported agreement between the Liberal Party and the Bloc Québécois.

A Cornerstone of Democracy is at Risk

"The ability to express and teach our faith freely...is a cornerstone of a healthy, democratic Canada."

What the Bishops are Saying

Primary Demand: Keep the Protection
In a public letter, the CCCB urged the Prime Minister to retain Section 319(3)(b).

Alternative Proposal 1: Public Assurance

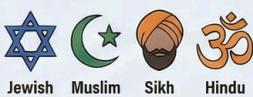

If the section is removed, the government must issue a clear public statement that good-faith religious teaching will not be subject to criminal prosecution.

Alternative Proposal 2: Mandatory Consultation

The Bishops demand mandatory consultation with religious leaders, legal experts, and civil liberties groups before any changes are made.

THE BINDER ON THE FLOOR: NAVIGATING HIGH SCHOOL IEPs AS A PARENT

The transition to high school can feel overwhelming for students with IEPs and for their families. In this reflection, D. Pawlowski shares a powerful moment when a binder spilling onto the floor revealed more than disorganization. It revealed a student carrying expectations beyond their developing executive skills.

The article explores how IEP support shifts in high school, where independence and self-advocacy are expected, often before students are fully ready. It offers clarity on IEPs and IPRC meetings, and highlights the evolving role of parents as advocates, collaborators, and guides.

Painted Peg Doll Exchange

I often find myself searching for simple, creative, and meaningful activities to do with my children—or with children at Church—especially as we prepare for special celebrations or our summer Bible Camp in July. Recently, a video popped up on my social media feed showing beautifully painted peg dolls—the same kind many of us remember from the 80s and 90s, or still use in classrooms today.

You Are Special

In our Book Nook, we love highlighting stories that gently teach children about identity, belonging, and God's unconditional love. One of my favourites to share with families is the wooden people series by Max Lucado.

These stories introduce children to Eli the Maker, who lovingly creates each person exactly as they are meant to be. Through characters like Punchinello, children see the struggle to fit in, to earn approval, and to compare themselves to others. When Punchinello meets someone who only cares about what the Maker thinks, the dots and stars no longer stick—a powerful reminder that our worth comes from God alone.

These stories offer a deep but accessible message for children: even when they feel "out of place" or different from their peers, they are wonderfully made and deeply loved. They remind us that our purpose is not to meet the world's expectations, but to live as God sees us.

PRAYER

Prayer of St Francis

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace;
where there is hatred, let me sow love;
where there is injury, pardon;
where there is doubt, faith;
where there is despair, hope;
where there is darkness, light;
and where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master,
grant that I may not so much seek to
be consoled as to console;
to be understood, as to understand;
to be loved, as to love;
for it is in giving that we receive,
it is in pardoning that we are
pardoned,
and it is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life.

Amen.
